We Eat Too Much.
Railroads and Land.
We Send Brains and Money.
Bad Cotton News.
By Arthur Brisbane

Current use, by the U. S. of Berlin, says Americans eat more on the average—3,398 calories daily—than any other nation. England comes next, with 2,997 calories.

It is certain that this country eats too much, and wastes about as much as it eats. Half we eat keeps us alive. One-quarter keeps the doctors alive, and one-quarter supports the undertakers and cemetery owners. Eat half, leave the table for ten minutes, and one digestion starts you'll know you've eaten enough.

GERMAN WISE MEN figure that our earth, tazed to capacity, could produce enough to feed nine thousand million human beings, about six times the number on earth now.

Such estimates are worthless. If, as Haldane suggests, we succeed in making sugar about as cheap as sawdust, and if the earth is intensively cultivated, there is no limit to the number that the earth could feed. Some of us might have to live up in the air permanently, as many Chinese live on boats, for lack of room on land. With sharks and other sea wolves killed off, the ocean, alone, could supply enough food for ten billion human beings easily.

THE WHOLE Western coast should be fastened to the campaign made by the Los Angeles Examiner to shorten train times between the Atlantic and the Pacific. Three nights on the train from New York to Los Angeles can easily be accomplished.

Last August a shipment of silk from Yokohama to New York traveled 3,132 miles from Seattle to New York in 73 hours, 25 minutes. The running time of a Pullman passenger car between New York and Los Angeles is 91 hours. Too long.

THE CITIZENS of Florida are working at improved transportation in a manner that will interest California, and it is to be hoped, will be the transcontinental lines.

Last Monday, at Fort Myers, on Florida's west coast, the big great mass meeting of citizens on record heard S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line, promise that he would run another railroad, his own, into Fort Myers, the Interstate Commerce Commission approving. Over 500 citizens subscribed money to provide seaboard terminal lines.

HEAVEN MAY give a land everything it needs—climate, soil, sunshine, beauty. But all is vain without adequate transportation.

Florida shows appreciation of the new railroad building that Mr. Warfield has done and is doing there.

California will show appreciation, at least as great, to the Santa Fe, the Union Pacific and any line that will take one night out of the transcontinental trip, thus bringing the Atlantic and the Pacific 500 miles nearer to each other.

WINSTON CHURCHILL, discussing tariff on silk in the House of Commons, drew from his dispatch case silk things, including stockings, and proved his point. The House wondered at his versatility.

That isn't surprising. Churchill is the son of an American woman, Miss Jerome, whose father was W. R. Travers' partner in the old Wall Street firm of Travers Jerome. Our young girls carry brains as well as money to Europe.

COTTON HAS gone to another low price for the second crop and that's bad news. It is bad for the South, just as bad for the North. Our young girls carry brains as well as money to Europe.

Somebody said it was amazing that human beings, intelligent enough to make a watch, should build up and protect fortunes of thousands of millions of dollars from a found a way to protect and decently encourage men that work

GRAND JURY PROTESTS AGAINST "REVERE" IN REVERSE INQUIRY

BAIL OF 'HAWK' CUT TO $1,000; TRIAL AS THIEF COMES NEXT

Middlebury, Vt., May 13.—Earl Woodward, abductor of Luella Chatterton, mountain Cinderella, was taken out of his cell today and over to the courthouse to listen to more bewildering lawyer talk. Then they took the hillman and locked him up again, telling him he would be tried on Thursday next on the original charge of kidnaping.

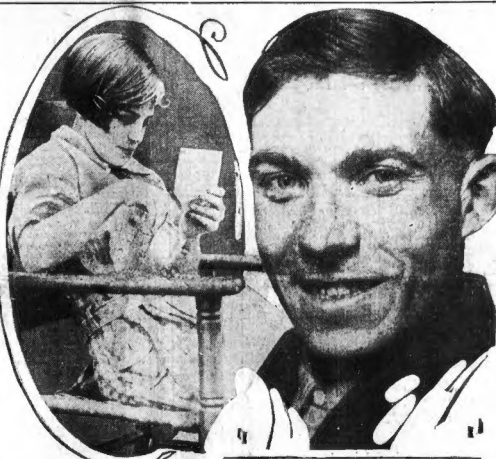

On the two new charges of larceny, put in by Walter Chatterton, the girl's father, and another Grand Juror, he will be tried tomorrow by Judge Albert W. Dickens and a jury in Municipal Court.

Brief as the proceedings were, they were regarded as highly satisfactory by the abduction's lawyer.

One thing that pleased Woodward was that friends argued his little Luella, with whom he ran away from Greenville, "for her own good," was ready to take the stand in his defense.

Another thing was that the bail

'CINDERELLA' AND THE 'HAWK'

Today marked the first public appearance—in court—of Luella Chatterton, kidnapped girl, and Earl Woodward, whose daring plot to set her into a better place nearly cost his life in the mountain man hunt. "Cinderella" has in part realized what the "Hawk" says he sought, and is anxious to say only good things to the Judge. At least he has "a friend in court."

RUM PATROL SHOTS HALT INVESTIGATOR

New Bedford, May 13 (U.S.).—Jack Burgess, city editor of the New Bedford Times, investigating the rum blockade off the southern New England coast, was fired on by Federal picket boats carrying machine guns, he reported when he returned to port today.

Burgess, who found the blockade against rum complete, gave a graphic picture of conditions in "rum run," twenty miles off the little island of No Man's Land.

"We were coming in by Gay Head in our power boat," said Burgess.

CHARGE WOMAN BIT GIRL TWENTY TIMES

Bearing her arms and shoulders to Judge Barnes in East Boston court today, sixteen-year-old Margaret Conway revealed to the jurist that her fiancé was literally covered with toothmarks.

She told the court they were inflicted yesterday by Mrs. Isabelle Mosco, a young matron living at No. 88 Marginal street, East Boston.

The Conway lives at No. 83 Marginal street and there is bad blood between the families, the girl admitted.

"Yesterday my little sister and her little boy were scuffling in the driveway, she told the court and the prosecutor. I ran out to stop it. I separated them."

Then she came running, her eyes blazing and her hair down. She said I had struck her son and when I denied it she asked me and threw me down.

"While she had me on the ground she began to bite me, sinking her teeth in, not once but twenty times. And she worried and pulled at me when she had her teeth in me. When my brother came and drove her off and got a doctor."

At the conclusion of the girl's testimony Judge Barnes ordered the case continued until Friday to give court officers and police a chance to investigate the case.

44 Babies Died at Woman's 2 'Farms'

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—Records of the bureau of vital statistics were made public today showing that 44 babies died in two "baby farms" conducted by Mrs. Helen Auguste Giesen-Volk since 1915.

Mrs. Giesen-Volk is being held in $30,000 bail on charges resulting from an investigation of the institutions.

RETRACTS CENSURE WHEN O'BRIEN TAKES ALL RESPONSIBILITY

Retracting his statement to newspapermen that the Suffolk County Grand Jury had authorized him to make certain revelations of proceedings in the jury room during the Revere investigation, District Attorney O'Brien today assumed responsibility for the revelations.

The District Attorney's retraction was made in Superior Court, after Judge Bishop had informed the jurors that the alleged $250,000 shortage in Revere's finances, that if they had authorized the District Attorney, they had violated their oaths.

During his talk, the justice declared that under the conditions, he would quash any indictments arising out of the investigation. If defendants' lawyers called the circumstances of the leak to his attention.

After the Grand Jury had reported today on several minor indictments, Assistant District Attorney Charles Smith, moved that it be sent back to the jury room to consider other matters.

Judge Bishop hesitated a moment and sought a meeting newspaper which contained an account of the Revere investigation.

Then the justice remarked to the jurors that if they had authorized the district attorney to make public what went on in the jury room, it was a violation of the oath of secrecy taken by each member.

"You have no right," he said, "to give out public business and if any indictments are brought as a result of this investigation, and counsel for the new Grand Jury comes in on the first Monday in July."

CAPTAIN SAVES SHIP FROM TITANIC'S FATE

Montreal, May 13 (U.S.).—A possible repetition of the steamship Titanic's disaster was averted by Captain Peel of the liner Aurora when he iceberg loomed up through the fog.

As excited passengers crowded the decks, Captain Peel ordered reverse on the engines and avoided a collision with the big berg.

News of the escape of the liner came from Liverpool today when she arrived from Montreal.

On the afternoon of May 8, off Cape Race, Newfoundland, a huge iceberg loomed up only 100 feet ahead of the liner. Fortunately Captain Peel had ordered down sea because of the fog and thus was able to reverse the engines and avoid collision.

"Marching passengers crowded the decks, but there was no panic. Captain Peel was later presented with an illuminated address signed by all passengers expressing their admiration of his skill in maneuvering the vessel."

OLYMPIA SLEW SHEIK IN FEAR OF FATHER

By HERT FORD.
New Haven, Ct., May 13.—Evidence that Olympia Mair pursued "sheik" John Bagarno, cabaret 140, after he was married, and had been "swooshed" by his relatives to keep away from his bride, was offered today at the girl's trial.

Olympia was also accused of having threatened to shoot Bagarno on the engine and had been warned that if she didn't kill the singer her father would kill her.

The testimony was offered by Mrs. Marion Bagarno, sister-in-law of the slain youth and second cousin of Miss Mair.

Mrs. Bagarno, a pretty girl in mourning, was the first woman relative of the dead singer to take the witness stand.

"One night Olympia Mair came to my house and asked for Johnny Bagarno," testified Mrs. Bagarno, wife of Tony Bagarno.

"She asked me if Johnny came there much. She said she'd like to see him. I told her he was very often. She talked about her baby again. She always talked about her baby. She said, 'I'm going to see him some day, or my father will kill me.'"

"I told her she would be crazy to do anything like that. I told her she ought to take her baby and put it away and go to work. I said, 'I would and have him arrested and'

CHARGES COOLIDGE INSULTS HINDENBURG

Berlin, May 13 (U.S.).—The United States was taken to task today by the Berlin Tagblatt, Democratic newspaper, for its failure officially to congratulate President Hindenburg on his inauguration.

"It was a deliberate insult which will prove the German government on a similar occasion in the future to do likewise."

Congratulations were received from the Mikado of Japan, the King of Sweden and Denmark, the President of the Argentine Republic.

Roberts testified that on December 27, 1924, he saw two trucks near the garage in the Johnson estate.

FINDS DEAD BODY IN HUB SHIP STATEROOM

Charles R. Russell, address unknown, passenger on the New York to Boston boat, was found dead in his stateroom today when the boat arrived at Tides where in the Hub.

The passenger boarded the Boston a few moments before it left its dock as pier, but he gave no address.

Today Ralph Thordike, entering Stateroom No. 312, found the body.

Russell is described as having been fifty-five years old, five feet ten inches tall, weighing 140 pounds and having had mixed gray hair.

Medical Examiner Barnard made an examination of the body.

SPRING WEATHER IS COMING—THE REAL THING

Although light frosts were reported at Lexington and throughout Middlesex County towns, the official weather forecast for Boston and vicinity for today and tomorrow predicts that real Spring is about to arrive, this time for good.

The thermometer at Concord registered 37 degrees during the night, but today and tonight are scheduled to be fair and mild, the weather man said.

Genile south winds will prevail tomorrow, when the weather is expected to be partly cloudy, with possible showers late in the day.

'CLEANED' GOLD COAST RADED AGAIN

Are You Honest? Chance to Wed 'Miss America'

FIND GOLD COAST VENUE; CHARGE ASKED

"HONEST MAN" HER IDEAL FOR MATE

BEAUTIFUL HUB TO PICK 'PRETTIEST GIRL'

While motions for a change of venue were being filed at East Cambridge in behalf of certain defendants in the "Gold Coast," Somerville, liquor cases, Somerville police today made the second liquor cleanup in twenty-four hours in that section. Today's seizure was made at No. 18 Bedford street, where sixteen gallons of alcohol and was the second raid staged by the Somerville police after District Attorney Headling announced the district was "cleaned up."

As the liquor and a quantity of paraphernalia were being removed to the Somerville police station, Attorney John J. Higgins, William H. Shannon and Joseph Daly were filing motions for change of venue in Middlesex Superior Court.

The motions set forth that the minds of jurors would be swayed by the liquor stacked in the yard of the courthouse, and also by the publicity that has been given the case. For that reason they ask that the trials be transferred to some other county, as the defendants, they contend, cannot obtain a fair trial in Middlesex.

The motions were to be heard by Judge Madden, and were to be opposed by District Attorney Headling and Assistant District Attorney Robert H. Higgins. It is expected that attorneys counsel for the liquor defendants will follow the example set today.

Three men who escaped Saturday night's roundup, but who were arrested yesterday on warrants, were arraigned in East Cambridge court today. Police officers of No. 18 Bedford street, charged with the charge of violating the liquor laws, and was held in $1,000, as were Dom (Al) Alfieri and Louis Durazano, who pleaded not guilty to similar charges. All three are Somerville.

FINDS MORE LIQUOR.

The cordons and courtyards at East Cambridge were crowded by defendants who were scheduled to go on trial in connection with the Saturday night raids, and others whose cases were to be continued further. The men were first arraigned Monday and their cases continued until today, but the legal machinery of the county was so overtaxed that further continuance was necessary in the majority of cases.

The Somerville liquor cleanup resulted from a discovery made by Police Thomas A. Donovan, chief of a vacant house at No. 18 Bedford street was unlocked. He went in to investigate and found the liquor, contained in fourteen casks and one two-gallon can. There were also 100 empty bottles, together with bags of stoppers, capping machines and other paraphernalia. Donovan telephoned the station and a wagon was sent to cart away the confiscated property. No arrests were made.

HEAVY FINES IMPOSED.

In the Somerville Court, Sergeant Kennedy, head of the liquor squad, prosecuted three men for liquor law violations. Carlo Mancarelli of No. 12 Warren street, charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale in a garage in the rear of No. 3 Porter street, was fined $150 by Judge Sturtevant. Michael Desantis, alias Mario Desantis, of No. 1 Jefferson street, Cambridge, charged with keeping and exposing in a garage in the rear of No. 38 Bedford street, Somerville, was fined $100. Police against these two men was obtained by State troopers Saturday night and seventy-two gallons of alcohol were seized in both garages. James Moore of Warren avenue, Somerville, for keeping and exposing at No. 44 Myrtle street, was fined $150, and the could told him his six children were all that prevented him from going to jail. His place was raided last night, ten gallons of alcohol being seized, together with five gallons of Scotch whiskey, four gallons of rum, seven gallons of gin, and rum and paraphernalia.

MAYOR IN CONFERENCE.

The seizure was made following the police raid on a stable in Maple street, in the heart of the Gold Coast district, where more than fifty cases of Scotch whiskey were confiscated. Mayor John M. Wheeler of Somerville, with Chief of Police Charles A. Kennedy, who has just returned from the international police conference in New York, visited District Attorney Headling today. Along conference took place in the district attorney's office and although the nature of it was not disclosed, it is understood to have had to do with keeping Boston clean. This despite the fact that the district attorney's house at the Gold Coast and Brookline sections had been cleaned up, was found to be without foundation of fact.

BOYS PILE STONES ON

TRACK TO WRECK CAR

Pittsboro, May 13.—Four boys of West Gorton have confessed that they tried to wreck a car on the tracks of the Boston & Maine Railroad in that town last week. They put stones on the track and applied between the ties. The attempt came very near to being successful.

As the oldest boy is nine years old, and the others barely of school age, no official action was taken. But it is supposed they will be taken into the respective family households by their fathers.

A wholesome, well-blooded "be-man," who is shy on good looks, but long on honesty, has an excellent chance of leading America's most beautiful girl to the altar.

Miss Ruth Malenstrom of Philadelphia, who last September was selected as "Miss America" at the annual Atlantic City beauty pageant, is in Boston and today she announced that she definitely would not give her hand and heart to a male champion of the Atlantic City.

"You can't find handsome men," declared Miss Malenstrom, "because they are so stupid and uneducated. The ideal of my dream is a whole some man who knows nothing about the city. He hasn't come along as yet, but when he does, I'll wait for him until he comes."

MOTHER HER COMPANION.

"My religious training always told me that, when I was nine months old I was on the roll call of the citizenship in the Sunday School and during my nineteen years I have been a member of the same school, keeping regularly of every kind and in everything."

"I don't think about myself and my face. Forget that and remember you have a personality to bring into play. No right life for me; Mother is my companion and advisor and as my charm and playmate we mingle together in the company in the summer and before the first of the winter. There is no one in the world than mother."

"I don't want a career. Marriage is my career and I dare say it is the best that life can offer any girl. I want to have my children young when I can appreciate them and enjoy life with them together. Do I sound sophisticated? I must be old-fashioned to talk this way, but I always feel like this on the subject and I'll never change, no matter how many beauty prizes I win."

FOUND OPPORTUNITY TO FLEE WITH LIQUOR

Commissioner Edwin C. Jones to day discharged four men who were arrested in a raid on the buildings adjacent to the South Boston Pier. They were Frank E. Anderson of Rye, a tailor, with a shop at No. 212 Northern avenue; his son, Everett; Jerry Clifford of Milton street, Boston, and Clifford Fay of Gloucester.

The defendants testified that hundreds of men were milling about the building during the raid, and that a great many of them were taking liquor as it was being destroyed on the roof of the building and running away to secret it.

Commissioner Jones said that there was no evidence to show that Anderson or the men arrested in his shop took the liquor in there.

HOW General Pershing said it: Pershing even at the risk of losing his command—to one of the interesting things revealed in Major-General Bullard's great story which begins on the coming Sunday in the columns of the Boston Sunday Advertiser, to be continued tomorrow next Monday here in The Boston Evening American.

Pershing and English high commands attempted to force Pershing to merge his soldiers with the French and British armies.

How Prime Minister Lloyd George offered to supply British ships to bring over Americans to reinforce the decimated British and French ranks—but could not find ships to bring over complete American units, as Pershing demanded.

How Pershing persisted and how the great war was finally changed by the great German drive.

Major-General Bullard, in his new breath-taking installment of this memorable narrative, describes the German onslaught of 1918 Germany's mighty effort to "win the war before America arrives."

IRLAND AFTER TOURIST TRAFFIC, POWER PROJECT

Dublin, May 13 (A.P.)—President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State, addressing the annual convention of the ministerial party organization today, passed lightly over the events of recent years, except to refer to the effects they have had upon present conditions here.

Arms Parley Blocks U. S. Publicity Plan

Geneva, May 13 (A.P.)—Publicity as a weapon against illicit arms trade, met a delay today, President M. Curzon, Minister of State for International Affairs, announced that the conference was disappointed to admit the project of universal publicity regarding governmental and private manufacture of arms and munitions. The plan was advanced by Representative Theodore E. Burton, head of the American delegation.

MOTHER FAINTS AT SON'S TRIAL FOR KILLING

Girl Witness to the Wrentham Bank Holdup Tells How the Cashier Was Shot Down

Mrs. Mary F. Madelon, mother of Celestino Madelon of New Bedford, on trial for first degree murder in connection with the shooting of James E. Carpenter, aged cashier of the Wrentham National Bank, during the testimony of Arthur L. White, civil engineer, in Superior Court in Dedham today.

White identified two drawings he made showing the exterior and inside of the bank.

Carpenter, who was seventy-nine years old, was shot down by one of three gunmen who entered the bank on November 1, 1924. Two shots were fired into the window of his office after he had complied with the order of one of the men to throw up his hands. The shots were fired when he made a move as though to step forward a pace.

Two men who recently pleaded guilty to participating in the hold-up, which was unsuccessful, were given life sentences.

Miss Bertha E. White, a clerk in the bank who witnessed the killing, declared on the stand that she could not identify the man who fired the fatal shot.

She described how the three men entered the bank, saying the noise resembled her of a "set of school boys."

"One man approached the cashier's window and ordered him to 'throw up his hands,' she said. The two shots were fired at Mr. Carpenter while he had his hands raised but when he took a step, she said she could not tell how the men who fired were dressed, but was sure he was thirty years.

She said the men left the bank immediately after the shooting, riding in an automobile driven by a fourth man who had waited outside.

Judge Lummus overruled a motion of Defense Attorney Francis J. Quinn that a mistrial be declared, the jury be discharged and a new trial summoned.

Quinn's motion was put on the ground that when the jury was taken to the scene, a car similar to that in which the three men were riding near the bank, it feared the prejudicial effect.

On that day the father explained, the youth wrote a note to a girl friend, Miss Olive Workman, eighteen years old, of No. 804 Sixth street, South Boston, and a telephone operator at Boston University, handed her for purchasing some flowers he had asked her to get in memory of his mother, who died eight years ago.

Then, taking nothing from his room but the clothes he wore and Miss Workman's photograph, which he kept on his dressing table, he dropped out of sight.

Neither Miss Workman, nor any of his relatives have heard from him since.

AUTO AFIRE IN CRASH; FIVE NEAR DEATH

One Woman Among Victims of Mishap as Car Runs Into Telephone Pole

Providence, May 12.—Four men and a woman, Mary Whitford, of No. 812 Westminster street, narrowly escaped death in an automobile crash which caught fire and was burned after it crashed into a telephone pole in Hartford avenue, in the Oak Swamp section. The woman sustained severe lacerations. Robert McKenna, twenty-three years old, of No. 303 Broad street, suffered injuries to his back and side, and Leonard Grenier, twenty-three, of No. 11 Kroyon street, sustained a fractured rib and lacerations of the scalp and face. Both are in the Rhode Island Hospital.

According to their story, the car was driven by James Caswell of Smith Hill. Joseph Stroutte, was said to have been another passenger. They and the woman left the scene after being given first aid. All were rendered unconscious by the crash.

53-BELL CARILLON FROM LONDON ON THE AIR TODAY

London, May 12 (A.P.)—Music from the carillon of fifty-three bells which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., will present to the Park Avenue Baptist Church in New York city in memory of his mother, was broadcast today for the English public, but it was not expected that outside stations would be able to pick up the chime.

King George and Queen Mary yesterday inspected the Rockefeller carillon in Croydon, a London suburb, where the bells were cast. The bells vary in weight from a few pounds to nine tons.

Uses Rifle to Die

DUNCAN MAY BE ASSISTANT TO LABOR CHIEF

Quincy Labor Leader Proposes Choice as First Aide to Davis

James Duncan of Quincy, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, was named today as a possible choice of President Coolidge to be First Assistant Secretary of Labor, to succeed E. J. Hennigan. Duncan, through his long years as an officer of the labor union, was named by the President as being eminently fitted as assistant to Secretary Davis.

Hennigan, whose place he may take, resigned to accept an appointment as federal judge in California.

Carl White, at present an assistant secretary in charge of immigration affairs, is suggested as a possibility.

THOUSANDS TO MARCH IN LYNN

Residents Unite for Mammoth Demonstration on Anniversary of City's Birth

Mayor Harland A. McPherson of Lynn has thrown the gauntlet at the feet of the business interests of the city. He has called for a demonstration of the city's spirit and patriotism on the anniversary of the city's birth. The parade is scheduled for Saturday, May 16, and will start at 10 o'clock. It will be the principal feature of the city's diamond jubilee which is being observed all this week.

Tomorrow's celebration will mark a long remembered epoch in the career of a municipality which in its seventy-five years of life has grown to be a city of thriving industry and international renown.

Although Lynn business men have refused Mayor McPherson's request to close their stores Thursday afternoon during the parade, the Mayor has declared a half holiday for city employees and has extended to the people of New England the key of welcome to Lynn on Thursday.

The Chamber of Commerce, through its retail bureau, has refused to cooperate with the committee for the anniversary parade.

More than 15,000 people will march in the parade, which will start in Washington square at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Every fraternal and social organization in the city will participate. Several hundred school children will comprise a division. The crack 101st Field Artillery and the famous "YD" Club of Lynn will be among the military organizations in line.

A detachment of marines and sailors from the United States Navy will march. Their presence is the result of orders of Congressman William P. Connery, Jr.

BEAUTIFUL FLOORS. Fifteen bands and drum corps will play. Several beautiful floats, depicting the shoe industry and the General Electric company will be featured. One of the original Lynn fire engines and most of the present modern Fire Department also will participate.

Tomorrow evening, at the State Army on South Common street, addresses will be made by Mayor McPherson, Congressman Connery, Senator William M. Butler and Representative Charles Symonds, and Benjamin H. Johnson.

Friday evening a fireworks display will be staged at Memorial Park, East Lynn, and on Saturday a tennis road race will be held on the street of Lynn.

MAN DIES AS FUNERAL OF SON IS ABOUT TO BEGIN Holyoke, May 12.—Onsime Hattin, seventy-eight, died at his home, No. 10 Centre street, a few minutes before the funeral of his son, Severin, who died Sunday, was to take place. Mourning had gathered at the home, but the funeral was immediately postponed until today when there will be double funeral services for father and son.

BROKEN BOTTLE GLETFAS IN MASK DEATH

Police Again Run Into Blank Wall in Effort to Find How Buchanan Met End

The "broken bottle" clue to the gas mask murder of Alexander Buchanan, one time Canadian Kills, in Waverley, has been run to its finish—the same blank wall of mystery that has surrounded the case since the body of Buchanan was found in an abandoned cellar a month ago.

The bottle, bearing a "holofane" label, and believed to have held one of the deadly liquids found in the gas mask which was over Buchanan's head, has been explained to the satisfaction of the police as having no connection with the case.

The shorlform was purchased for a man known to the police. Its contents were, the police believe, the case will go on the records of "unsolved mysteries."

TWO KILLED IN NEGRO RIOTING IN HARLEM New York, May 12.—The Harlem section of Manhattan, where thousands of negroes live, today was the scene of a riot, the result of which two negroes were killed and several wounded.

The rioting broke out after the shooting of four negroes, two of whom were killed. Excitement was caused by false rumors of a race riot, and special police patrols were necessary.

One man killed was a negro policeman, off duty and not in uniform. He ignored the command of an active white policeman to halt. A negro civilian also was killed. A negro woman and a negro police constable were seriously wounded.

The battle started when the negroes objected to a remark addressed to his wife by another negro.

POLICEMAN KILLS MAN IN SPEEDING AUTO New York, May 12 (AP)—Robert Spinner, a Bronx real estate dealer, was shot and killed today by a patrolman in a speeding automobile.

Patrolman Harry M. Edwards, while riding in an automobile which was pursuing a car in which Spinner was driving, fired the shot.

Edwards said he fired the shot to stop the car, which was driving at a high rate of speed. The car was a 1924 Ford.

13 ARE CAUGHT IN PEABODY GAMING RAID Peabody, May 12.—Peabody police arrested thirteen men on charges of being present where gambling is prohibited. The raid was made at the home of one of the men.

The men were caught while playing cards. The police found a large amount of money and gambling paraphernalia.

AT CONFERENCE OF N. E. HADASSAH

Mrs. Frieda Silbert Ullin (above) of Detroit, Mich., national president, is at attendance at the conference here of the senior and junior New England units of Hadassah. Lower left, Dorothy Olevson of Providence, elected treasurer of the New England Regional Conference for 1926; right, Fannie Smith, a delegate from Providence.

ACCUSED PATROLMAN ACQUITTED AT TRIAL Albert Edward Keating and Philip T. Phillips of the Jamaica Plain station were declared not guilty of conduct unbecoming officers in general orders sent out from the station.

The men appeared before trial before Judge Michael E. O'Hara of the West Roxbury station, as a result of the arrest of an outsider. The man was said to have approached Keating, whom he knew, and Phillips, who was called in as a friend of O'Hara's, who made the arrest. It was charged. It was claimed that O'Hara got money from the autoist. The finding of the trial board in his case has not been announced.

PLACED BY HADASSAH

Conference Accepts Responsibility of Fulfillment of Support for Projects

Delegates from forty-one senior and twelve junior New England units of Hadassah assembled in conference at the Elveth Club, Huntington avenue, and there pledged greater support financially and spiritually to the cause of Palestine.

Under the spell, as it were, of the speaker, Mrs. David De Sold, of New York city, national executive of Hadassah, the two groups endorsed more comprehensive measures concerning medical care, nurses' training schools and orphanages in Palestine, for which they accepted the responsibility of fulfillment.

Hadassah is the woman's Zionist organization of America and as such functions in its own way to subvert Palestine as the Jews of today would have it.

The feature of the senior meeting was an address on "The Annual Plan of Hadassah" by Mrs. Fannie Smith.

SEEK ANNUAL DONORS. "The heart of the plan is to build up a list of annual donors to the Hadassah medical training of Palestine, that the pressure and handicap of constant solicitations for funds and the necessity of securing financial support for the various projects of Hadassah, which are of such importance to the Jewish people, can be removed."

BOYS CAN'T FOR FOLKS WITH HIS JINGLE PRIZE

Framingham Man Found Good, Clean Sport in "Last Lines"

A box of chocolates for Mother and another box for "The Missus" were what Leslie F. Mills of Marble street, Framingham, purchased with the dollar prize he won in the Boston Evening American jingle tournament.

Here is what Mr. Mills says about it: "This is an acknowledgment of receipt of checks for my minor winnings. I am thankful to you for the money as well as the good clean sport derived from writing 'last lines.' My most recent check goes toward the purchase of a box of chocolates for my dear mother, and also one for the wife who is a mother of six little ones. Mother's Day is a noble institution and we should all observe it with genuine feeling for her whom it enshrines."

Mrs. Hazel Mrs. of Ames street, Worcester, likes the fairness with which the prizes are awarded. In writing the Limerick Editor, Mrs. Mills said:

"Received your check for $1 yesterday and am quite proud of myself, especially when I got another thrill by seeing my name and the wife's name again for a dollar. Maybe I didn't say so, but as I am going to be a mother, I am going to keep on trying to be a good mother and a good wife."

"The beauty of your contests is that, even if you are a 'last line' in the best we'll all have to admit it is. I am going to keep on trying to be a good mother and a good wife."

Mrs. Carrie L. Holley of Copeland street, Boston, was so fortunate as to win a prize for her jingle. She says: "There's luck in old numbers, says Mary O'More, so along with my medical care for my second dollar prize goes a strong wish that No. 1 will be the big one. Isn't it wonderful how many rhymers there are and how well they use their 'think-tank'?"

The American has made a "fan" for Limericks and Crosswords, as well as for the Boston Evening American paper.

Mrs. Anna Hutchins of Ashmont street, Dorchester, says she is proud to have her name in the Boston Evening American paper.

And at the same time, the company broke its sales record for March of this year, which was at that time, the highest for one month in the history of the company.

Mr. Smith attributes the unprecedented buying to the continued popularity of the Speed Wagon for all motor vehicles during the current year.

WINNING "LAST LINE" For Limerick No. 69

First prize of $5 won by Mrs. E. C. Clark, of East Waverley, N. H., with "last line" printed below:

to a greatly increased demand for passenger models and buses.

He declared that the Speed Wagon, while it has been one of the world's leading sellers among commercial cars since its introduction to the market in 1914, is more than keeping pace with the accelerated sale of all motor vehicles during the current year.

REO SETS NEW SALES RECORD The Reo Motor Car company during last month, recorded sales that were 15.9 per cent. higher than those for April, 1924, according to an announcement by R. L. Smith, advertising manager of the Lincoln Motor Company, Reo distributors in New England.

And at the same time, the company broke its sales record for March of this year, which was at that time, the highest for one month in the history of the company.

Mr. Smith attributes the unprecedented buying to the continued popularity of the Speed Wagon for all motor vehicles during the current year.

"As Is"

This is a trade expression applied to merchandise damaged, irregular or otherwise imperfect. Frequently it may mean goods simply soiled or mugged by displaying and handling. It is natural that in a store as large as ours "As Is" merchandise necessarily accumulates. In the past we have marked it very low and sold it to our fellow workers. We have been asked by customers to allow them the same buying opportunity. Hence this announcement.

Thursday there will be "As Is" bargains in the following merchandise:

BOYS ACQUIRE SWIMMING KNACK

Anyone who will go into the water can learn to swim, according to Bill Cox and the other masters of the aquatic art who are instructing the boys who have enrolled in the Boston Evening American Learn to Swim Campaign.

Last week, according to the instructors, the majority of the 191 boys who came under their guidance actually learned how to swim. Many of the boys said they had previously tried to learn without instruction, and, failing, gave up hope of ever learning.

The instruction, for which no fee is made, is given to boys who fill out the accompanying coupon, at the Boys' Club of Boston, Green street, Charlestown.

JAPS WOULD LET U. S. SEARCH SHIPS FOR RUM Tokyo, May 12 (AP)—Negotiations are proceeding between the United States and Japan for a liquor treaty, similar to that between the United States and Great Britain. Under the proposed treaty, it was stated at the foreign office, Japan would permit the search of Japanese vessels on the territorial waters in return for which Japanese vessels would be allowed to carry liquor under certain conditions in American waters. The treaty would not apply to the Philippine Islands.

SHIP BOARD PERSONNEL NOT TO BE REDUCED Washington, May 12.—President Coolidge does not contemplate a deriding a change in organization or reduction of personnel in the United States Shipping Board.

Because of the board's recent report over the sale of five "President" type steamers to the Dollar Line, rumors were current that the President favored cutting the board to three members.

"Why?" by DONALD LOWRIE

Amazing Story of a Man's Struggle Against Temptations That Pulled Him Down to Die in a Cell

Back in prison after nearly fourteen years of freedom, Donald Lowrie wonders "Why?" and he shudders as he hears the tap, tap, tap of hammers driving nails into the plain wooden coffin of a convict whose hand he had clasped twenty minutes earlier. While still depressed with the thought—"men are worse than beasts," he is visited by Fremont Older, the man who had urged the writing of his earlier book, "My Life in Prison." Older asked him to tell why he was back in a cell. "Not for yourself," said Older. "You don't count; none of us do, as individuals; but there ought to be a moral in it, especially if you will bare your innermost secrets and analyze yourself truly." And so, sitting in the rays of the life-giving Arizona sun, a victim of his own weakness and slowly dying of tuberculosis, Donald Lowrie tells of the road of sin and shame which led him back to a felon's cell. His first step was in meeting a former prisoner going on a party with him. He meets a girl, Estelle, and is strongly attracted to her. He quarrels with her, but they make up and Lowrie drinks heavily. He then meets "Edith," a San Francisco society girl, who seeks his company. Another ex-convict, Bert Holmes, appeals for aid and Lowrie meets his wife, Ruth. The ex-convict goes on a lecture tour, and, returning, pays Estelle a surprise visit. After three days of drunken debauchery Lowrie goes back to writing for his newspaper. He breaks off with Edith.

CHAPTER XX

I WAS with Governor Johnson that night in the reception room of his Sacramento home from 8 to 10. It developed that he was very much worried over an application for executive clemency from a man condemned to die in San Quentin prison at 10:30 the next morning.

The Governor asked me what I knew of the case and what my views were. Although I had familiarized myself with many cases of condemned men, while in prison and afterwards, this particular case happened to be one about which I knew little. I felt a sinking sensation at the pit of the stomach when I realized that I could say nothing concrete in behalf of the man whom my imagination viewed as a villain in the death cell at that very moment. I did, however, avail myself of the opportunity to express my views regarding the uselessness and indefiniteness of capital punishment.

Feeling of Having Helped Hang Man

Without saying so definitely, the Governor led me to believe that he coincided, but stated that he was pledged to uphold the law as he understood it and that he could not act to stay or abrogate the carrying out of a sentence unless he had a brother in San Quentin and hoped it wasn't as bad as I pictured. I assured him that changes had already been made, with more in prospect, and that he, so far as I knew, was the first person to do so.

EVERYONE GETS CALL TO HIGHER THINGS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE comes a time in each man's life when he gets a "call," or an inspiration, to get up into a higher plane of living, thinking and feeling that which he has been occupying. Let him obey at once!

Joan of Arc received a call to lead the armies of France. She did listen to and follow. There were plenty of girls in Domremy who were fit for nothing but to tend sheep. "Let the dead bury their dead!" Jenny Lind felt within her the ambition to be a great singer and enchant the world. But who was to do the knitting and sweep the floors? There were plenty to do that. "Let the dead bury the dead!"

The principle is applicable to all. History and the lives of famous persons are of no use unless we can interpret them in terms of our everyday experience. Some young man may read this who has felt an overpowering longing to get an education. A thousand things interfere, social pleasures, sports, laziness, or an anxiety to get to making money as soon as possible.

If he allows himself to be held back by these things he gives away his life to "the dead." To plod is good, and it is well to be faithful in little and to neglect no details, but if your life is going to be at all touched with greatness you will need that other wisdom which consists in seeing an opportunity and that other wisdom which consists in seizing it. Life is spoiled because we fail to estimate values. We think too much of trifles. The sick woman toils away until death comes prematurely; she thought darning socks was more important to her children than her own life. Men neglect the family for jolly fellows. The Germans have a proverb: "The good is the enemy of the best." I am speaking of those who stick to the good because they are timid, and will not take the best.

Life is conspired against always by institutions, formalities, conventions, customs. The Pharisees felt the truth and beauty of the Nazarene's teaching, but they were in the grip of a dead mass of institutionalism; they stayed to bury it, life swept by; the future belonged to the Nazarene. Lazy, timid minds fear every advance of the truth. They cling to their father's formulas. They want nothing but what has been. Let them alone! "Let the dead bury the dead!" The human problem is to better the quality of life, to make life fuller, more vivid. It is the impulse to do this that pushes the level of civilization constantly upward. In their blind obedience to this impulse men strive for better houses, clothes, culture, edibles. Religion. They want fuller, richer lives.

Newport Officer "Squares" Minor Offense When Victim and Friends "Come Across"

If the coming dance in aid of the Policemen's Relief Association of Newport, R. I., is not a financial success, it will not be the fault of a certain Newport patrolman, according to W. L. Waters of No. 136 Orange street, Rosindale.

According to Mr. Waters, he was driving his automobile at the rate of fifteen miles an hour through Newport when the officer stepped out from the sidewalk and asked him whether or not he had a horn on his machine.

Mr. Waters declared that when he replied in the affirmative the officer asked him, "Then why don't you use it?"

Then, according to Mr. Waters, the officer said, "Well, you're against it, but I think we can square this thing."

He reached into his pocket, Mr. Waters declared, and pulling forth a ticket for the benefit dance, sold it to him for it.

Turning to Mr. Waters' three companions, he handed out three more tickets with the words, "Come on, you fellows, come across," Waters said.

Each of his friends purchased tickets and all four were then returned to the officer with the explanation that they wouldn't be able to attend.

"Oh, can't you come? That's too bad," the officer is quoted as having said as he allowed the machine to proceed.

NAVAL OFFICER CLEARED IN ALIMONY CASE

New York, May 13 (A.P.)—The naval officer, Commander Earl P. Huff, Medical Corps, U. S. Navy, attached to the submarine base at New London, was acquitted by a general court-martial at the Brooklyn Navy Yard of charges of "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman."

In connection with his alleged failure to pay alimony to his divorced wife since April, 1924, it became known today.

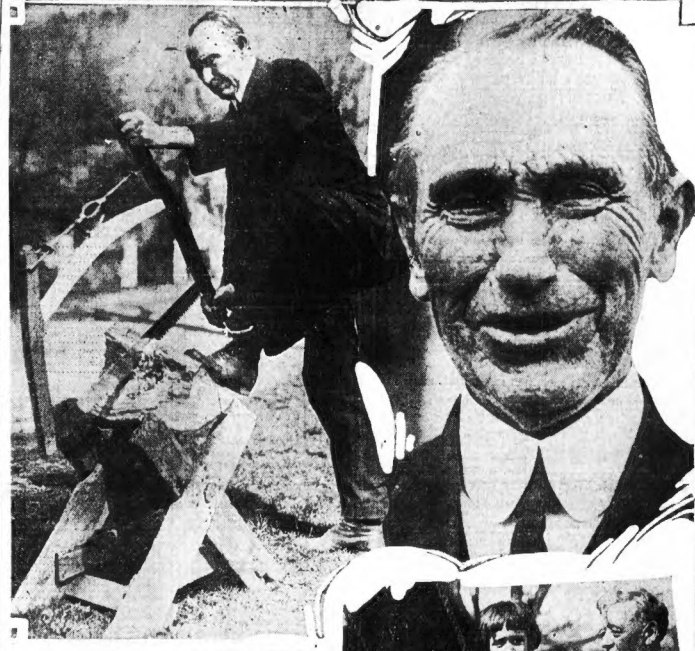

It is understood that the court's finding was influenced by the fact that Commander Huff had brought action in Massachusetts courts for reduction of his alimony, filed by a decree in a California court of December 26, 1922, at $145 a month.

RAZE "HONEST JOHN'S" NOTED GAMBLING HOUSE

New York, May 13 (A.P.)—"Honest John" Kelly's former gambling establishment at No. 115 West 44th street, notorious scene of raids and the rendezvous of prominent figures in the city night life, will be replaced by a $250,000 office building with an intimate theatre on the street floor, it was announced today.

"Honest John's" place was one of the most notorious in the city. It was furnished with the utmost luxury and on its walls hung many pictures of famous men. The house was run on a lavish scale and many fortunes were won and lost in its rooms.

HERE'S A MESSAGE TO 'CAL' FROM 'DAD'

President Coolidge asked Attorney-General Sargent to stop in and look the Colonel over when he was in Plymouth, Vt. John did and these pictures are from the story he is taking back to Washington.

COL. COOLIDGE WORRIES HIS PHYSICIAN

Ludlow, Vt., May 13.—Although Colonel John C. Coolidge, father of the President, is inclined to minimize his illness which culminates in a fainting spell, Dr. Albert W. Chan, the family physician, admitted today he was worried about the colonel's condition.

"Colonel Coolidge is very comfortable," said the physician, "and appears to be in the best condition he has been in for a long time. 'I suppose there is danger of his dying, just the same as there would be of anybody in his condition. He has arterio-sclerosis and is eighty years old.'"

The doctor, whose home is at Bridgewater, Vt., is driving to Colonel's home and examining the colonel daily.

The elder Coolidge insists, however, that he is normal in every way. He has temporarily given up food shopping, but is doing other light tasks about the farm. His appetite, he declares, is up to usual, and he suffers no discomfort of any kind.

Attorney-General John G. Sargent is expected to leave for Washington today after visiting Colonel Coolidge at the home of the President. The Attorney-General will carry to the White House a personal report as to his observations on the condition of the President's father.

Not only does Colonel Coolidge smile when questioned about his physical welfare, but he demonstrates. There's many a young man today who can neither saw nor split wood. The balance of the picture is given to Attorney-General Sargent, who is giving his granddaughter, Mary Gordon Parsons, a swing at the old home in Ludlow.

MONTE TO RUN GOWN SHOP

Plans Exclusive Store for Woman 'to Relieve Mind of Worry'

"Count" Paul Monte, named as co-president in the now famous divorce action of Lyndon V. Grover, millionaire Lynn shoe man, is going to embark in business.

Once the "Count" sold shoes for a salary of $25 a week. Now, however, he plans to open an exclusive ladies' gown shop.

The "Count" is not going into business for the money that may be made, he explains.

"I must have something to occupy my mind, and a gown shop will keep me busy."

HEART BROKEN.
"I am heart-broken and almost insane with worry over this whole miserable business," he declared, speaking of his connection with the divorce of Mrs. Grover.

"If there is any justice in the world, Mrs. Grover ought to get the divorce," Monte said emphatically. "It is all a frame up. I happened to be the person at hand so I was named."

"When it is all over I shall go back to my inventions, but in the meantime I must have something to occupy my mind."

"This shop would do that without demanding too much detail work of a technical nature."

The invention on which the Count has been working is a helicopter, the plans of which are now perfect, he states.

OFFERED 5 MILLIONS.
"One European government offered me two million dollars for my invention. I love my work but I cannot do anything in my present state of mind."

Talk, blundering with a wave in his hair that would drive any woman to desperation, Monte is enthusiastically about his new business venture. All he is waiting for now is for the court to decide in favor of Mrs. Grover, then he will feel free to turn his attention to his own interests. "That is," he adds with a dash, "if my wife doesn't decide to get a divorce. That would be the last straw."

RUSSIAN GENERAL IS SUICIDE IN PRISON

Moscow, May 13 (A.P.)—The suicide of General Boris Savinkoff, anti-Bolshevik leader and former Assistant Minister of War under Kerensky, who threw himself from the window of his cell in the State Political Department Prison in Moscow, caused a sensation when revealed today. Savinkoff was serving a long term for counter-revolution. After turning informer for the State, the War Minister was accorded many jail privileges, and was thought to be in a content with his lot in the man could be under the circumstances.

FRANCE EXPECTS ACTION ON FRONTIER GUARANTY

Paris, May 13 (A.P.)—Foreign Minister Briand today sent to the British Foreign Office at London a copy of his reply to German proposals regarding the German security pact proposal. It is understood to convey that the French state of mind is receptive to any offer that Germany may see fit to make to guarantee the security of frontiers. France takes Germany's good faith for granted and presupposes that the Reich will come forward with proposals of a character necessary to make the pact possible.

WILSON FLAYS A. A. U. OVER 'WHITEWASHING' OF NURMI

DEMANDS 'HONEST' PROBE

Des Moines, May 13.—E. L. Wilson, athletic director of Drake University, who recently charged Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola and their interpreter-manager, Hugo Kuit, with attempting to collect exorbitant expense money for their appearance at the Drake relays, today fired another broadside at the trio and at F. W. Ruben, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Wilson reiterated his charges against Nurmi, Ritola and Kuit, and accused Ruben of attempting to "whitewash" the runners and their manager.

"Ruben should be interested in making an honest, impartial investigation of the charges rather than trying to whitewash the defendants and belittle one who insists on conducting amateur athletics on a square," Wilson declared.

Wilson demanded Italian investigation and asked the following questions:

1.—Why did the official investigator appointed to consult with Wilson regarding his part in the affair tell Wilson what kind of an affidavit he would like to have sworn to?

2.—Why the A. A. U. after canceling Kuit of all guilt, refused to let him manage Nurmi any longer?

3.—Why have nearly all Nurmi's future dates been cancelled and Nurmi hurried back to Finland on May 22?

4.—Why is the Board of Philadelphia accused of being a political machine because, as an A. A. U. official, he has suggested that the conditions of Nurmi's appearance in Philadelphia should be investigated?

"I have been somewhat surprised that I have been attacked by the A. A. U. officials," said Wilson.

"When the A. A. U. investigates its own activities the public is entitled to a full report of charges and the rebuttal."

With the details all settled for Paavo Nurmi, wonder pin for 4 minutes 10.5 seconds for the mile on the Harvard Stadium track on the evening of May 22, officials of the Harvard A. A. Boston Athletic Association and E. E. A. A. U. started work today with a view of making the affair the greatest outdoor track carnival in the history of New England.

AMATEUR BOUTS ON CARD AT LYNN CLUB

The Pioneer A. A. will stage another amateur tournament in Casino Hall, Lynn, on Friday evening. Four classes will be contested, the 115, 147, 160-pound classes, open. The 126-pound class will be open to Lynn boys only.

To date four boys have entered the class, namely, Tommy Deery, the latest sensation in the amateur ranks; Jimmy Libert, Harold Galt and Larry "Red" Coburn. Another outstanding entry is that of Jim O'Donnell of Everett in the 160-pound class. O'Donnell is a former captain of football, baseball and track teams of Everett High School, Louis Pomeroy, No. 101 Chicago street, Lynn, is receiving entries.

YOUNG JIMMY WELSH saved the opener, in the very first round. He made a remarkable stop of Littlejohn's hot one-shot, right on the foul line, twisted around and kicked a perfect peg to second when Cliff tried to stretch it. James then

Surging Braves Open Series With Pirates

By NICK FLATLEY

First division feels so cheerful to the Braves that they are quite anxious to linger there for the rest of their lives. They have whizzed into a place in the sun, after years of cellar gloom, and are now in a mood to fight it out all Summer, and care not what the opposition.

Pipe straight wins, polished off by a double triumph over the Cubs, have put the Baneroff outfit into third place, tied with the Robins. The position, and the present pace of the club, bodes ill for the Pittsburgh Pirates who open a four-day visit at the Wigwam this afternoon.

By GEORGE W. GRIMM.

Holy Cross College of Worcester meets Harvard University this afternoon on Soldiers Field, Cambridge. Carroll will pitch for the Purple while Toulmin in all probability will be the choice of Coach Mahan of the Crimson forces.

These two college teams have always been great rivals both on the diamond and gridiron, with Harvard having the edge in football and the Reds from Worcester winning the battle on the diamond.

Holy Cross is the favorite, yet the team getting the breaks should win. Coach Jack Barry, former Red Sox player and one time a member of Connie Mack's 1908 infield, is handling the situation at Holy Cross.

Many local lads will be seen in the lineup of both teams. Walter Gault, a two Cambridge boys as they are known, who is coveting for the Crimson forces.

Besides the Cambridge lads, Coach Barry has Charlie Walsh of Woburn on third base.

They collected three hits and a walk in the third round of the final, and registered their only run of the day. And with pitch by the Reds that trickles in. Definitely the Braves were a riot.

A GOODLY crowd was there. The grounds were getting stumped up, few more victories will have the games of the older days on the job. And nobody will be here.

Carroll has pitched four straight wins this year, losing only to Villa Nova, and defeating the team last week.

Taking up the reins where he left off a few weeks ago, when he led Williams and Mary, 2 to 1, in a best fought, ten-inning battle, Carroll will face the Flat Hats again this afternoon on the Newton college diamond.

Carroll has pitched four straight wins this year, losing only to Villa Nova, and defeating the team last week.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

New Hampshire has been America's highly favored Summer playground for ninety years. Within the Granite State's limited area may be found, in superlative degree, every recreational attraction mortal man can possibly desire.

Grouse, rabbit, deer and fox are particularly abundant in New Hampshire. The State spends $100,000 annually for the maintenance of five fish-hatcheries and a game farm. The investment has proved "well worth while."

New Hampshire Minute Men Broadcast the Attractions of the "Top of New England"

"W AY UP IN NEW HAMPSHIRE God hung a gigantic stone man high on a mountain side, to indicate that there he makes men."

So, inspired by the Old Man of the Mountains in Profile Notch, a son of New Hampshire wrote many years ago of the State of his nativity.

We are going to see more and read more of the Great Stone Face in the near future, for New Hampshire is going into publicity.

It was not to be expected that the first of the thirteen colonies to break with the mother country would sit with folded arms while younger commonwealths went out into the highways and the byways to corral new industries, attract up-to-date farmers and entice paying guests, and New Hampshire will pose for no such study of still life. Her Minute Men are not only wide awake but "rarin' to go."

One of the last and most important acts of the recent Legislature was the passage of a bill authorizing the appointment of a board of publicity and providing money therefor.

Under the provisions of this act, Governor John Gilbert Winant, the youngest and one of the most progressive governors the Granite State has prospered under in many a year, is authorized to appoint a board of three members who will "co-operate with persons, organizations and corporations interested, for the purpose of devising means to advertise the attractions and resources of the State."

Governor Favors Publicity

The members of the new board, appointed for three years, will serve without pay; and under their direction—with the approval of the Governor—the State will expend $25,000 this year and a like amount next year.

To boost the tourist business, bring in more Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter vacationists, help the railroads?

Not altogether; not exclusively.

While Governor Winant recommended the passage of the resolve making these appropriations—it was one of the matters covered in his first message to the Legislature—he did so upon the urging of organizations like the State Chamber of Commerce, the Manufacturers' Association and the New Hampshire Hotel Association.

New Hampshire wants MORE industries and a GREATER VARIETY. Her hitherto dependable old stand-bys, shoes and cotton textiles, have not been doing so well.

In trying to determine the ills of the cotton trade, says a prominent factor in the business, as quoted by the current market letter of the National Wholesale Dry Goods Association, there are some who feel that the high cost of raw material has curtailed consumption.

Our opinion is that the consumption of cotton goods has not been reduced on account of the prices of raw material, but more by the curtailment in the demand resulting from fashion and style changes.

The government estimates that whereas twenty years ago it took nearly ten yards of gingham to make a woman's dress, not more than 3½ yards are required today. It also estimates that the annual per capita consumption in this country since 1914 has been reduced from 64 yards to less than 55 yards.

Furthermore, the big increase in the demand for silk and artificial silk fabric has reduced the consumption of cotton goods. While so-called "low cost" material would stimulate considerable buying by jobbers, manufacturers, etc., we doubt whether goods would move into actual consumption much faster.

Gentlemen in the business of making shoes will tell you that the reason for the present lameness in that industry is that the United States is making more shoes than its people can wear, at a time when there is little or no opportunity in the foreign market at existing prices.

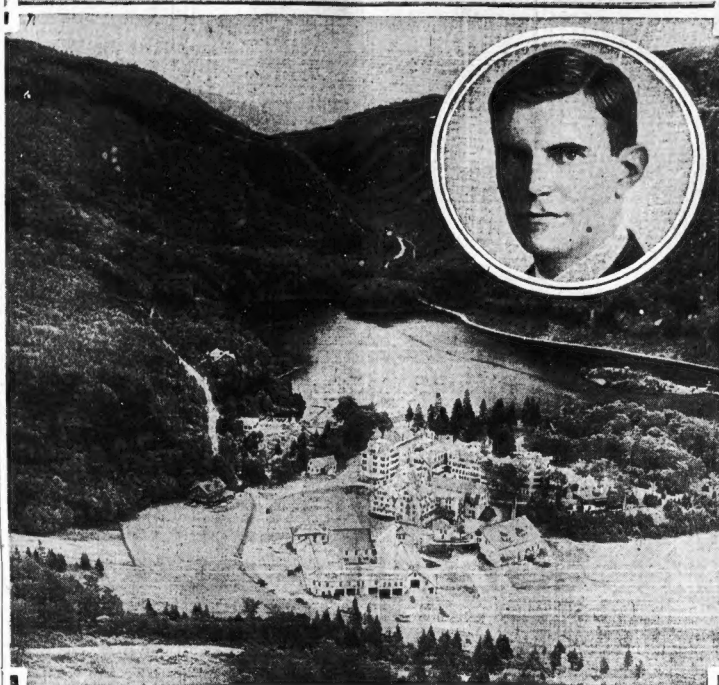

Wanted—New Industries

Whether these authorities are right or wrong, however, is not of importance at the present time in connection with this report of New Hampshire's adventure in publicity.

Sensing that something IS wrong, eager and anxious to be of help when the way is pointed out, but unwilling to wait for the jury to report, New Hampshire will take a look-see in an endeavor to learn whether there are not other industries which will be glad to find homes in a commonwealth where industry is more than usually free to be industrious.

In the order of their importance as the Granite State regards them the interests of the State may be classified as:

GLORINETTE LAKE, DIXVILLE NOTCH

Lying within the old hunting grounds of the Abenaki Indians, Dixville Notch is one of the most interesting pieces of rock and mountain scenery on the Atlantic side of the United States. This is the only east-and-west pass across New Hampshire north of Groveton. The township of Dixville, population 24, was granted in 1805 to Colonel Timothy Dix, Jr. His death, in the War of 1812, prevented the carrying out of the contract—he was to find 30 settlers—and Daniel Webster, one of his survivors, took possession. - 1—Agricultural.
- 2—Industrial.
- 3—Recreational.

Agriculturalists in New Hampshire hold a favored position for marketing their products, being located at the doors of an enormous market for foodstuffs and forest products of all kinds. The New England population is given as 7,400,000, of which 80 per cent. is urban.

In New Hampshire alone there are 365,000 people to be fed, outside of the farm population, who use probably $70,000,000 worth of food products per year. The year-around population, moreover, by no means indicates the extent of the local market, for there is a Summer and tourist trade which the "Switzerland of America" draws each year in increasing numbers. A survey of sixty hotels in the month of August, a few years back, showed that in one month these hotels purchased $112,000 worth of seasonable products outside the State.

The superiority of New Hampshire apples is recognized quite generally. Her Baldwins are declared by some to be the "best in the world." The hill slopes of the central and southern sections of the State are favored orchard sites.

Most of the soil of the State, when reasonably well tilled, is productive, and for the period of 1918-1922, the latest for which government figures are obtainable, the average production of several crops ranked high in comparison with other States.

Farms Free of Mortgages

An average yield of 46.5 bushels of corn to the acre gave New Hampshire third place; 36.4 bushels of oats, a ranking of fifth; 126 bushels of potatoes, eighth place; 1.97 pounds of maple sugar per tree, a ranking of sixth.

In an agricultural way, New England appears to be coming into its own again, the principal reason being the high cost of transportation. When freight rates were low, the farmers of the West could raise crops so much cheaper that they were able to undersell the New Englander IN HIS OWN MARKET.

The swing of agriculture to the West tended to inflate land values in that part of the country. Since 1900 farm land values for the country as a whole have increased nearly four times; in New Hampshire they have only doubled.

New Hampshire, in brief, feels that she has a powerful appeal to make to the modern young American farmer wherever he may be. The Board of Publicity will find a way to get her story to him. Beyond doubt, it will be a story of golden opportunities.

A larger percentage of farm operators own the farms on which they work in New Hampshire than is true of any other State in the Union except Maine. In only eight other States is the percentage of farms free from mortgage so high.

What Ben Hart Said

The first suggestion that it was time for New Hampshire to step out, with Maine, California and Florida, in the march of the "booster" States, is said to have come from Mr. J. Ben Hart of Manchester, for the past ten years secretary of the Hotel Association.

Mr. Hart brought the matter up at a meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce.

"More than 1,500,000 pleasure seekers," Mr. Hart said, "visit our vacation resorts every Summer and Autumn."

"If we can get these figures before the country, we will double them, for just as the world likes to be with a winner, so it likes to patronize a success."

"One little town in this State boasts a hundred brooks and streams stocked by the government with gamey fish, a veritable paradise for fishermen who enjoy wading into a stream of speckled trout.

"What good will it do New Hampshire if we keep the fact a secret?"

"There are 86 mountain peaks in New Hampshire more than 2,500 feet above the sea level."

"The area of the White Mountains is 1,200 square miles."

"Our State borders eighteen miles on the Atlantic Ocean. The charms of Hampton, Rye, Little Boar's Head, Newcastle, Portsmouth and the Isles of Shoals have been pictured by Longfellow, Whittier, Bayard Taylor, Eugene Field, Dr. Holmes and Parkman, but who of the present generation knows it?"

Why So Quiet About It?

"From the summit of Mount Washington the radius of view extends for almost a hundred miles in all directions."

"Why are we silent about it?"

"Winnepesaukee, Sunapee, Assquam, scores of other beautiful lakes and ponds, ranging from a mile or so in length to thirty or forty miles long."

"In Spring, the angler; in Summer, the vacationist; in Autumn, the sportsman and those who appreciate the beauties of Autumn foliage; in the Winter, those who enjoy their recreation amidst bracing silences."

"They will all be glad to come to us, gentlemen, if we only will tell them what we have here."

President George A. Foster and Secretary E. W. Porter of the State Chamber, with Secretary George Carter of the Manufacturers' Association, joined with Mr. Hart in the necessary missionary work before legislative committees and elsewhere and, with the enthusiastic support of the young Governor, were able to overcome such obstacles as they found in their path. Whenever Mr. Winant is ready to name his Board of Publicity, these organizations—and others, no doubt—will be ready to suggest how, in their opinion, the $50,000 should be expended.

Alvan T. Fuller, Summer Resident

For more than ninety years, New Hampshire has been one of America's most highly favored Summer playgrounds. Among her Summer folk are hundreds of Americans whose achievements have entitled them to admission to the Hall of Fame represented by Who's Who.

Our own Governor Fuller, for example, is one of the most prominent residents of the Rockingham County town of North Hampton.

Secretary of War John W. Weeks favors Lancaster in the north country, the town of his birth.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank G. Allen has a farm in Hopkinton.

Eleanor Hallowell Abbott, who wrote "Molly Make-Believe," resides in Wilton; Ernest Poole, author of "The Harbor" and other stories, goes to Franconia; Freeman Tilden, of mounting fame as a short-story writer, recently bought two farms on Pembroke street, in the town of Pembroke.

President Howard Conoley of the Boston Chamber of Commerce favors Sunapee, as does Congressman Tilson of Connecticut. Thomas G. Plant has invested millions in Ossipee. J. Randolph Coolidge, retired Boston architect and past president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, was elected to the recent House of Representatives from the Carroll County town of Sandwich and created a bit of a stir there by favoring a proposed forty-eight-hour law for women and minors in the factories.

F. S. Hight, manager of the New Willard Hotel in Washington and personal friend of the President, chooses Canaan for his Summer home; the late Amy Lowell went regularly to Dublin; Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, the former Mrs. Grover Cleveland, to Tamworth; Mrs. Larz Anderson to her ancestral estates at Hopkinton or her country place on the shore of Lake Winnepesaukee.

But no single edition of any newspaper would have sufficient room to name one-tenth of all the discerning men and women who choose New Hampshire in Summer.

The New Hampshire Minute Men who have taken up the cause of State publicity will, if their work is continued diligently and wisely, increase the present list of Summer visitors a thousand-fold.
